

Announces Our Arrival At

The Regent Palms, Turks & Caicos, British West Indies

November 19, 2007 Pacific Palisades CA. RadioWeb has arrived in the Caribbean! Less than 600 miles from Miami, the idyllic Turks & Caicos Islands attract the most sophisticated travelers from around the world. Sugar sand shores, on the island of Providenciales, surrounded by the crystal clear azure blue Caribbean Ocean, simple pleasure meets with the utmost in resort luxury at The Regent Palms!

Regent Palms suites are appointed with out of the ordinary furnishings and amenities. Hand tufted bed linens, wet bar, valuables safe, high speed internet access, and cable TV are all standard, and NOW, each will feature a RadioWeb Noxon 2 player, connecting every guest with over 10,000 internet audio sources from around the planet.

Only at The Regent Palms can one enjoy a remote paradise, while feeling like they are not too far from home. One touch connectivity to news, sports, weather and entertainment from home, or any place in the world you'd like to hear from. Be it a Viennese concert while you enjoy a drink on your private patio overlooking the spectacular grounds or breakfast with live reports from Wall Street before you hit the links – RadioWeb delivers!

Being away from it all, no longer means being "lost"! have the best of all worlds at The Regent Palms, now with RadioWeb!
